

Since the completion of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, through to the Pacific Coast, the ranchers at the Muddy and throughout the lower portion of the county have been deprived of a market for their produce. El Dorado Canyon and Mineral Park, Arizona, used to be the markets at which the ranchers disposed of their produce, but since the completion of the road produce is brought in from California and Kansas much cheaper than the ranchers can afford to haul it at the present time. Produce for the Canyon is brought to the Needles by the railroad, then hauled up to that place, and goods and produce for Mineral Park are left at the station named Kingsman, about fifteen miles below, and is hauled to its destination by teams. The ranchers are in hopes that the branch road, which has been surveyed from Crystal Springs down through Pahrana-gat Valley into Arizona, will be built at an early day, for then they will be able to ship their grain and grapes, which are much easier to haul than those grown in California, to the San Francisco market, where they will obtain a good price for all early produce and fruit.

It is no secret, and a positive fact, and to be convinced that such is positively the case, call at Jas. Nesbitt & Bro. and examine their new stock of dry goods just received, which are being sold at the very lowest prices. They have a fine assortment of domestics and ladies' dress goods, ladies' felt and farmers' satin skirts, fine toilet quilts, fancy ticking, shoulder shaws, white Russian towels, cotton flannels, dress flannels, ladies' cloth, water proof, cassimere, Scotch tweed, linen, damask knotted fringe towels, napkins and dayies, cotton baton, ribbons, embroidery, Hamburg edge, veiling, brown, blue and black, men's suits to arrive in a day or two, and a great many other things too numerous to mention. We purchase for cash and will sell for cash at bed-rock prices. We have also received a large supply of fresh groceries and canned goods.

The mails are away back this week. The stage that should have arrived on Tuesday evening did not get in till late Friday morning. And if it had not been for an extra sent out by the Postmaster, it is doubtful whether it would have arrived for several days yet. The late snowstorm had something to do with this, but the principal cause lies with the stage company. Their stock is not the best by any means, and some of their drivers are outrageously long; in fact, nothing more nor less than cruelty to the poor over-driven stage pligs. The drive from Bristol to Parker's is thirty-five miles, while from Parker's to the next station it is forty-eight miles. With a heavy road, one little team is not able to make the trip in schedule time.

A LETTER received from Jas. F. Ryan, at Pantano, Arizona, 80 miles from Quijota says that fifty teams pass daily on the road to the new mines at the latter place. Two stage lines are running and two telegraph lines are in course of construction. Water at Quijota sells at $1 per gallon, and is strongly adulterated with mud. The "bonanza people" are sinking for water and expect to go down 1,500 feet. Three men had recently brought thence to Tucson 1,000 pounds of ore which was worth $12,000.

Or evenings, after the sun went to rest, a number of our male residents amused themselves by quickly, and solidly, sitting down on the sidewalks. One little fellow, weight about 280 lbs., after taking his seat, wanted to slaughter all the boys who utilized the sidewalks for coasting purposes.

WM. THOMAS was not the proper name of the man killed at Bristol last week by Leshar. At the Coroner's inquest held on the body Thomas' correct name, and company and regiment of which he was a member during the rebellion, was tattooed on his arm.

THERE was an invoice of goods received at Hyman's on Wednesday and he has now one of the best and largest supply of flannel goods in the country. He also received a good assortment of embroideries and trimmings.

SUGAR prices for best pure sugar fall; weight: Cube, per 100 pounds, $14; Dry Granulated, per 100 pounds, $13 75; Extra C, per 100 pounds, $13. Retail, 1 cent higher. Subject to change without notice. J. P. POJADE.

THE prospectors high up on the mountains will now be able to pile up the snow in such quantities that they will be able to get along all the coming summer and have plenty of water.

AFTER the acquittal of Leshar at Bristol for killing Wm. Thomas, he was informed that it would be advisable for him to go in search of other fields and pastures new.

It looks kind of odd to see the streets filled with snow and flies out on the sidewalks in the day time sunning themselves, yet such is the case in Pioche.

POJADE has changed his sugar price list. Sugar has advanced one cent per pound, owing to the advance in freight from the terminals.

OUR County Fathers will meet on Monday next. Present your bills to the Clerk of the Board to-day.

BRISTOL HOTEL, BRISTOL, NEVADA.

Joseph, dear Joseph, don't go! is the plaintive cry of one of our maidens. The warm rays of old Sol for the last three days has entirely obliterated from the valley all traces of the beautiful.

Dolf Landrich, who has been working down at El Dorado Canyon for the past two years, died lately at Fort Mohave, from pneumonia.

Al Hooper furnished the musicians for a dance at his place, Tuesday evening, but as there were not any ladies in attendance it proved a failure.

John Smith and John Hearty took their departure for El Dorado Canyon on Wednesday afternoon. The former goes to bring home his mother, and the latter to seek employment.

In case the Bullionville Smelting Company should ever want to start up their furnace again, they will have to put in a new crucible, as the old one is completely demolished, parties having torn it up in their search for bullion.

Some of the Bullionvillians are sending East for electric hair-brushes, with a view toward warding off baldness. Better send for some patent leather pads, gentlemen, to wear inside the breeches, when you visit our church dances.

It seems that the three parties concentrating the Raymond & Ely tailings at Bullionville are doing very well. They have about fourteen tons of very fair concentrations ready for shipment to Salt Lake, that will net them some $600 clear of expenses. This is the result of two months labor.

One of our elders is jubilant over the discovery that the apple of his eye, the comfort of his old age, and the life of the household, has renounced for all time the company of outsiders, having lately taken up with one of her old school-mates. Shades of McConnell, Hunt and Agnayo, look down upon us.

As brother Henry Wedge was wending his way to the Co-op, he was savagely attacked by grown hoodlams, who mercilessly pelted him with hardened snowballs. After gaining the shelter of the store, however, Mr. Wedge armed himself with an axhandle and made it lively for the boys, as they beat a hasty retreat.

This winter has been one of the finest in the recollections of our oldest residents. The days have been of a Floridian temperature in their warmth, with the nights just cold enough for the enjoyment of luxurious rest, while only a few miles North and East of us Jack Frost and old Daddy Snow have been piling it on pretty thick. Truly, we are a blessed people and the chosen of the Lord.

Late Sunday night a couple of sneak-thieves took the door off brother Wedge's chicken coop and abstracted therefrom eight chickens and a fine turkey gobbler. The parties are known, however, an Indian having tracked them to their residences the next morning, and as one of them is still in Panama, he will be turned over to the officers of the law if he does not make restitution forthwith.

Old Mrs. Atchison, more familiarly known to the young folks of the village as "Grandma Atchison," passed quietly away on Monday evening, to that bourne from whence no traveler returns. The old lady had passed her eighty-first notch in the present century when the Lord summoned her to the Spirit Land. The funeral took place on Thursday evening and was largely attended by a host of sorrowing friends.

The Bullionville store was robbed on Wednesday morning between one and three o'clock. Fred Godbe, who tends the store, went over to Panama in the evening for the purpose of attending a party given there. When he returned the next morning he found one of the windows taken out of the building. After examining the premises the only things missed were about 500 cigars and 20 pounds of tobacco. A broken knife-blade was found on the window-sill, and this led to the suspicion of John Hearty, formerly blacksmith of the Bullionville Smelting Company. The tracks of a horse was followed, that came over from Panama and returned. Hearty left on Wednesday afternoon for El Dorado Canyon, but the officer went after him, and he was overtaken at Louis Sharp's ranch. When they examined this individual's duds a box of the missing cigars were found tied up in his overcoat on the saddle, and a couple of pieces of tobacco was found in his pocket. A knife was found in his pocket that the piece of broken blade fit. Hearty was brought up to Pioche Thursday night for safe keeping, and was taken back to Bullionville on Friday to have a hearing before the Justice, and as the proof against him is pretty conclusive, it is likely that he will be bound over to appear before the Grand Jury. Most of the stolen goods were found in Panama. Hearty but recently went to Panama, and it must be said, to the credit of the Panamans, that he is in no way connected with the people of that village, although there is a slight suspicion that a man of that place was cognizant of the fact that the store was to be robbed.

We hear it rumored that a certain Frisco official is highly incensed at an article in the Pioche RECORD about crookedness in some cattle matters. —(Beaver Usonian.)

It is too bad, but it cannot be helped. The highly incensed individual had no business to place himself in such a position.

The annexed epistle, from Panaca, refutes the many absurd, preposterous and malicious fabrications circulated by our enemies, who stated that there was not one lady in the land who would take pity upon our lonely condition. The letter is published verbatim et literatim, and speaks for itself:

PANACA, NEVADA.

MENDHA'S "MASHERS" GET LEFT.—There is war and rumors of war out at the Mendha mine, near Highland, the Belle of Panaca being the innocent cause of it all. The following are the facts as could be learned from one of those who got left: The Belle of Panaca paid a flying visit to her mother last week, who lives at Highland. This coming to the ears of the mashers, a few, whom were acquainted with her, proposed to go to Highland and surprise the young lady. The female population of Mendha hearing of this proposed surprise, determined that he who will hunt for better fields should be taught a lesson and forthwith put their heads together and determined on a plan of action, which they carried out successfully, and to the utter discomfiture of the mashers, in the following manner: One of the young ladies, on the eve of the belle's arrival at Highland, dressed herself up, and with a heavy veil on her face started in to personate the character of the Belle from Panaca. At 6 o'clock in the evening, when the men came off shift, and were in the boarding-house trying to fill up empty space, the supposed belle walked in and was introduced to the members of the sterner sex who were in the room, by the landlady (who was also in the plot). The efforts of the mashers to get ahead of one another were enough to make a mule laugh. A young fellow lately from Frisco, happening to be slightly acquainted with the bona fide belle, put in his best looks and was the envy of the others. The young lady asked the young man to excuse her for a moment, slipped out of the door, hurried to her house and changed clothes and returned in her true self. The sudden disappearance of the young lady the men could not account for, and the next morning asked the boarding-house mistress where she was. She replied that she went home the preceding night and was surprised that some of the young men did not offer themselves as escorts. The jeering remarks that one masher would make to another in the mine during the day were ludicrous in the extreme. The joke getting out, the next evening caused considerable hard feeling among the mashers, and if any one wishes to join the beings that we know nothing of and climb the golden stairs all he has to say is "How is the Belle of Panaca?"

Our big snow-storm commenced on Saturday last, and the beautiful kept falling to the earth below during the day, also continued falling on Sunday and Monday, and wound up with a wind-storm on Tuesday. It was the heaviest snow-storm we have had for the past three years, and all those who were here-baiting that there would be no snow this winter, certainly should be satisfied. On Wednesday the day was quite warm and pleasant and the congealed aqua rapidly melted. This, with the exception of about two inches, is the only snow we have had this winter.

CHIEF.—The price of farm products of all kinds has been materially affected by the exceedingly poor market in Beaver, Utah, says the Record; this winter potatoes can be bought in almost any quantities at 30 cents per bushel. Fresh pork of choice quality is being sold both here and in the lower valley at 10 cents per lb., retail, or 9 cents wholesale, and everything else in proportion; and the trouble is that even at these low prices there is hardly any sale.

CHOICE GOODS.—Fresh Malaga raisins, fresh California raisins, new currants, new table fruits, jams and jellies, mince meat and plum pudding, and many other choice fresh goods received yesterday at Pojade's.

OWING to the late heavy snow-storm, it has somewhat retarded work at the Day furnace, and it will probably cause a delay of several days in starting up.

PIOCHE has been one week without a mail. Tuesday's mail arrived about a quarter to 10 o'clock on Friday morning. It has been years since this occurred.

THE OLDEST REPUBLIC IN THE WORLD.—The little State of San Marino, just thirty miles in circumference, the oldest government in Europe, and the oldest republic in the world, proposes to enter into diplomatic relations with England. San Marino, situated in the midst of the Papal States, has been entirely independent since, in the fourteenth century, it refused to pay certain taxes to the Pope. It was already a self-governing community, the sovereignty being exercised by a whole population. But in the fourteenth century this absolute form of democracy was replaced by a sort of oligarchy; power being vested in a council of sixty life members elected from all classes of the population. Five centuries later, in 1847, it was decided that the council should appoint annually a committee of twelve, who still form the supreme judicial court. San Marino can scarcely possess a large army; but its government has given proof of courage, and, on the occasion when Garibaldi had sought refuge within the boundaries of the brave little republic, it refused to give him up, and persisted in its refusal notwithstanding Austrian threats of invasion. It may be further mentioned, in honor of San Marino, that, unlike another notorious little state, it does not tolerate public gambling.—(Pall Mall Budget.)

A "fiery cross" has been raised over Saint Agatha's Church in Philadelphia, resting on the steeple top, 185 feet above the pavement. The cross is made entirely of metal and glass and is twelve feet in height, with an arm spread of six feet. The frame is iron, highly ornamented and gilded, and holds enclosed one-quarter inch plate glass, ten inches wide, making the cross to all appearances a glass one with gold edges. Inside the cross a gas-pipe, with a number of burners, is connected with a pipe carried up through the steeple, and the lighting will be by electricity. The great cross of fire will be visible for miles at night, and during the day will doubtless reflect the sunlight with brilliant effect. The design is taken from one of the great Venetian Churches. There is one like it on the church of "Mary, Star of the Sea," Brooklyn, N. Y.
